I am glad to report the large Collection which I was able to obtain by the cooperation of all the Tax Payers.

Up to date for this Month we have over $4,500 for 1916 account.

On trying to close the books up to 1913 was compelled to advertise two pieces of property, after every effort to have the owners settle their taxes, had failed.

The 1913 book will have to be closed this year and hope all that owe any taxes for 1913 will help me keep from advertising their property.

Yours very truly,

LESTER R. GERALD,
Tax Collector.

Report of the School Committee

To the Citizens of Wayland,

Economy in school administration should always be measured by the results obtained. Education, an ever changing and always broadening line of endeavor, should never be made to suffer by a too narrow sense of economy for thereby we might defeat the end which we are seeking.

Because of Wayland's liberal attitude toward the schools we have buildings that are a credit and an ornament to the town, far more comfortable and better fitted than most of our neighboring cities and towns. Because of the good taste and generosity of some of our town's people the buildings are artistic and appeal to the children.

But teachers are the prime requisite of a school. As their years of service increase so does their value in any school system and so in common justice should their salaries increase.

It is the aim of your Committee to so encourage teachers as to establish a solid and result-getting system of education, to increase if possible the attractiveness and comfortableness of the buildings, and to advance conservatively educationally—this requires money.

We wish the people would read carefully the report of the superintendent of schools and other officers: that especial attention be given to that part of the superintendent's report wherein he refers to the heating and ventilating of the Wayland building.

Not only are cracked furnaces wasteful and unhealthy, but the roaring fires necessary at times to properly heat the building are a menace to life and property. Knowing the pressing nature of the town's needs in other directions your Committee will refrain from asking for an appropriation for a heating plant as long as the janitor's ingenuity can keep the furnaces together. When he fails we hope that the people will co-operate with us and secure a plant that will be a credit and a saving to the town.

It is the opinion of the Committee that the agricultural course does not fill any urgent need in this town and we recommend that it be discontinued.

The Playground Association was allowed to use the basement of the Wayland School during the summer vacation.

The good that can be accomplished by a supervisor of playgrounds cannot be over-estimated. On the playground better than elsewhere can be taught the spirit of fair play, the power of team work, and the great value of repeated and sustained effort. The idle hours are the mischief breeding ones.

Most all cities and towns are now maintaining playground supervision. Because of the zeal and generosity of Mrs. Walter B. Henderson, Wayland's children enjoyed this privilege last summer. It is the wish and recommendation of your Committee that the people give the Playground Association their hearty support. A report of the Association is included in this report.

Respectfully submitted,

PHILIP S. IDE, Chairman,
GEORGE F. POUTASSE, Secretary,
ERNEST E. SPARKS.

Report of Director of Playground Association

Mention of the Playground should be made in this report. The facts in brief are as follows :

The equipment, director and assistants cost close to $300.

There were over eighty children who participated in the activities of the Playground. The average attendance was over fifty.

There were but two contributions received, one of $25 and another of $2. Further contributions would be welcome.

It is the desire of those interested in the Playground to be ready to open it up promptly at the close of school and continue until Labor Day. In order to continue this work an appropriation is necessary.

It has been found most desirable to have school children have supervision in their play, during the long vacation, and wherever possible, either vacation schools or Playgrounds have been established.

Wayland is fortunate in having such an exceptionally beautiful Playground at its disposal.

Only those who spent the summer there will know how much some kind of a building is needed, but no doubt that will come in time.

J. L. C. HENDERSON,
A Director of the Playground Association.

Report of the Superintendent of Schools

To the Wayland School Committee,

Gentlemen:—The eighteenth annual report of the Superintendent of Schools is now due. I take pleasure in presenting my sixth annual report. Your attention is especially directed to the reports of Attendance Officers, School Physician, Special Teachers, and High School Principal.

School reports are generally more or less of a formality. Efforts are frequently made to lift them out of the ordinary by a discussion of some pedagogical or psychological phase of education, or by outlining a policy of progressive education, or by elucidating some administrative policy of local interest only, or by defending some administrative or educational policy that is being tried out and under severe criticism.

We have no new policy to defend or to outline and discussions of pedagogy and psychology are not believed to be pertinent to the occasion, hence this report meets the intention, simply ordinary and to a considerable degree a formality.

The Junior High School concerning which there is so much said of late and which is being adopted as a part of the administrative plans in several localities does not seem a possible feature in our school system for some years on account of the building and transportation problems, the latter of which is costly and the former a fixed matter until such time as our population makes altered or increased housing conditions imperative.

An examination of the vocational activities in school administration is a matter well worth your attention. It is some years since the first work of this kind was introduced into the schools of Wayland and since that time no advancement has been made with the exception of extending the shop work somewhat.

The boys of the four upper grammar grades and those of the Freshman and Sophomore high school classes have been given shop work, the course offering lessons in wood handicraft. The girls of the four upper grammar grades have been given lessons in sewing and to a small extent lessons in cutting and fitting. The high school does not offer courses in vocational work to the girls unless we choose to call the Commercial Course of this type.

There are seventy-six boys taking Manual Training this year. The yearly cost of this instruction is approximately $580. This sum includes cost of instruction, cost of lumber and other material, upkeep of equipment, and transportation of Cochituate classes from the Grammar School. There might be added a proportion of the heating and janitor expense, and a proportion of the interest on the plant. The yearly cost per pupil is $7.63 on this basis. The cost per lesson per boy is $.20. Some of the articles made are of considerable value. No accounting has been made of this value in estimating the cost of the course per pupil.

There are fifty-six girls taking the courses offered in sewing. These courses are given by girls from Framingham Normal School who are ready for practice teaching. The room teacher supervises the room and the girls are carefully supervised by the Normal School. This service cost the town the sum of $36.60 the past year. This amount is the sum paid by the Normal School for transportation of our practice teachers. The cost per pupil for the year is $.65. The cost per lesson per pupil is $.01½. The town has not furnished any of the materials necessary for this work and our equipment has been brought from home with the exception of one sewing machine which was purchased with funds raised for the purpose by the Cochituate School.

Funds are on hand for another machine and three cutting tables which have been ordered. Two machines and some cutting tables are needed for the Wayland School.

It is fair to observe that this department should be as well supported by the town as are the vocational courses for the boys. We may well ask if we should not give some vocational work for the girls of the high school as well? Lessons in household arts may be given the girls as are the sewing lessons.

Last year the town appropriated the sum of $200 that Wayland might become a part of a district for the purpose of increasing agricultural interest on the part of our boys and girls. This district was under the direction of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, the United States Department of Agriculture and in part supported by them. The towns of Natick, Wayland, Framingham, Sherborn, Holliston, and Middlesex County Training School united in employing F. A. Castle to conduct the work of home and school gardening with side projects such as poultry raising and pig culture.

Mr. Castle's report is incorporated in this report.

The results have not been commensurate with the expenditure nor do they promise to be. The interruptions to the school work have been considerable but have been so managed that we feel the educational side of the project has offset the losses to other work.

We should understand in judging the work that it is of an educational nature and so cannot be measured in the dollars and cents measure so that the actual products of the children are very much secondary. We must take into consideration also the fact that this line of education is in its infancy and will be much improved later.

In my opinion the projects have been too large for the ordinary boy or girl to begin on. Had the work been well established previously the older ones could well have undertaken the larger projects. The prize giving element is a hindrance to the educational value for I firmly believe that a thing once started should be completed in order to have good educational results. As soon as a project began to show signs of not being in the hopeful prize class it was allowed to fade away in a swamp of weeds and neglect, not in every case but too often.

There is need of a strong home interest before this kind of work can succeed and a strong home organization to push the work for all work of an educational sort needs close follow up work and interest. We have not had this interest or this organization and the regular teachers have not had time and energy for such work. We have reason to doubt the value of this extension work for Wayland even if pushed vigorously. Because it is valuable in one community does not insure its value in a community of this sort.

The District or County Vocational school offering courses in agriculture and domestic science suited to the farm home is an institution that can give the agricultural instruction needed by those of communities like this and others differently organized who may wish such instruction and it is an institution that can reach out for the extension work needed by those who are not able to leave the home or who wish only part courses.

We have tried to take advantage of the Agricultural College extension work of Club Canning offered girls or boys. Here too the follow-up work must be done after the demonstrator has been and formed the Club and given the demonstration lesson. In fact few girls can take one lesson and recall enough definitely to give courage to tackle a very hard canning proposition at home.

This year for the first time two of our students have taken advantage of the act which permits students to attend State Aided Vocational Schools at the expense of the resident town. Two girls are attending the Newton Vocation School and Wayland must pay the tuition of $150 each per year. The State reimburses for half that amount.

The following report as to expenditures of the school funds in my hands is herewith submitted:

Cochituate Sewing Machine Fund:

Amount Received		$61.26
Expenses—Hall	$4.50
Tickets	2.75	7.25

Net Assets		$54.01
April 10, 1915, Cash for Singer Sewing Machine		23.04
Balance on Hand		30.97

One more machine and three cutting tables have been ordered in accordance with your direction.

Gift of Class of 1915 to Cochituate School:

Amount of gift	$21.00
Cash for stereoscopes and views	$21.00

Wayland Rest Room Fund

Net Receipts		$45.25
Cash for Art Square	$17.50
Cash for Settle Cushion	13.25
Cash for curtains	8.38
Cash for finishing materials	5.66
Other expenses	.46	45.25

The boys of the grammar room of the last school year merit much commendation for their able work in cleaning the walls and ceiling of the rest room and for their work in tinting same. Previous high school classes of the manual training courses merit commendation for work in making the settle and a chair while the young ladies of the grammar room made the curtains.

The piano fund now amounts to $98.36. This sum is the gift to the High School from the classes of 1913, 1914, and the proceeds of an entertainment and the interest to date. The condition of the piano is such that the school needs an instrument of fair grade very much. It will also be an acquisition to the hall for all gatherings. Some means should be taken for adding to this fund enough to place at your disposal a sufficient sum to purchase an instrument, either a new one of good grade or one of the many second-hand instruments of better grade that has not been used to injure its tone or materially lessen its wearing qualities. I understand that the present Senior Class contemplates adding to this fund to a goodly measure.

The furnaces of the Wayland heating plant give us much anxiety as well as the ventilating system in its decadent days. We shall be fortunate if we do not some day find that schools must be closed indefinitely while extensive repairs are made on this plant. The hot water heater that was put in last winter is of great assistance in warming the building but it is not adequate and it adds nothing to the ventilating of the rooms.

I believe that if the parents really knew the conditions under which their boys and girls work even after the janitor has done his best and the teachers have done their best as to ventilating their rooms that we should have no question in regard to getting something done. The boys and girls of the high school are called upon to sit in rooms that are overheated one period and go to another room for the next period with the temperature perhaps fifteen degrees less. Room B is often eighty with windows opened as much as it is possible to have them and not have students in drafts. The next period they may be called upon to sit in room E with the temperature at sixty or seventy with windows closed and all possible heat turned on. Or if the heat is shut off in room B the temperature may fall ten degrees in as many minutes, even more. These extremes are in cold weather of course but not uncommon during the winter months. The mixing of cold and hot air cannot be controlled from the rooms and a visit to the basement or a call upon the janitor must be made in order to do this. Cold fresh air cannot be admitted except through the windows. Consequently the teachers have to control the ventilation and temperature of their rooms by the window method. The rooms of the second and third floors are the most seriously hampered in these matters.

Fire drills have been established in the Wayland school. For some years effective drills have been the regulation in the Cochituate school. This subject has been before previous committees for discussion but an effective signalling system has not as yet been established in the Wayland building without which a drill cannot be made of great service in time of need. Hence I have not forced the teachers to hold a drill that could be only partially successful and orderly. In establishing the one now in force it has been done in the expectation that either an electric system for this purpose would be established or a gong system if more desirable. Our present drills can not be of great service until some such signalling system is established in this building. The electric system will cost in the vicinity of $100 if the lighting of the upper floor and one or two rooms as you have suggested are carried out.

As a matter of safety there should be a means supplied for lighting the third floor. The passage from the laboratory to the stairs that lead to the manual training room is always dark. This is a passage for use in case the laboratory should be cut off from room B, a very possible occurrence in case of fire.

I have mentioned the foregoing conditions for the safety of the children of Wayland. If present conditions are satisfactory to the parents and community the teachers and myself are ready to make such conditions as safe and sane as possible and believe that the same is being done.

In behalf of the teachers I wish to thank the parents for their cordial and generous support in trying times and fair weather, to thank the Committee for its willingness to know all about the school affairs and to pass with calm and decisive judgment upon all necessary evils and benefits, and I also wish to express my appreciation of the spirit of the teachers toward their children and to say that it is my belief that they work earnestly and consistently for the good of every child.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK H. BENEDICT.

Report of Principal of High School

Mr. Frank H. Benedict, Superintendent of Schools,

Dear Sir:—My fifth annual report of Wayland High School is herewith submitted for your consideration.

The total enrolment of the High School is sixty-nine, of whom twenty-eight are in the entering class. It is encouraging that so many of the grammar school graduates avail themselves of a high school training. On the whole, this class is better prepared than any which has entered the high school during my administration. After four years' experience in your schools with the opportunity given me to observe the ability of the pupils to pursue successfully high school work, it is my opinion that the grades are each year gaining a higher efficiency.

Of the twelve graduates from the high school last June, nine are attending higher institutions of learning;—Tufts College, Boston University Law School, Framingham Normal School, Wentworth Institute, Miss Wheelock's Kindergarten Training School, and Burdett's and Bryant and Stratton's Business Colleges.

Eighteen of the twenty-eight pupils of the entering class have elected the College Preparatory Course. This fact is significant as it shows a growing tendency to plan and prepare for training beyond the high school course. This is as it should be for the high school is not really a finishing school. During the last four years sixty-three per cent of the graduates of Wayland High School have entered college, normal school, or school of special advanced training. We now have pupils at Harvard, Radcliffe, Tufts, Boston University, and Boston University Law School.

Wayland is to be congratulated upon the record made by one of its students who, after three years at Wayland High School and one year at Cambridge High and Latin School entered Harvard College last September with Honor grades in all his entrance examinations.

Whereas I believe that the high school has never been better equipped to prepare students for college, the fact remains that pupils can obtain a satisfactory preparation only by hard, consistent work through each year of their course. In order that the privileges of college certification may be extended, our graduates now in college should obtain the best possible records.

Parents may do much by co-operating with the teachers in obtaining more regular attendance, more home study, and in reducing to a minimum unnecessary detractions from school work.

The upper classes had intended to present plays during the coming winter but may not be able to carry out their plans because of lack of an available hall. There is at present, no hall in town suitable for dramatics and with adequate fire protection as required by state law.

I wish to thank you and the School Committee for your cordial support during the past year, and the teachers for their earnest co-operation in making this school an efficient agent in the community.

Respectfully submitted,

W. HERBERT MOORE,

Principal of High School.

Report of Supervisor of Drawing and Manual Training

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I take pleasure in submitting my report on the manual training and drawing in the schools of Wayland.

The work in this department is progressing along similar lines to those of the past. The size of the classes has increased and the general interest in the subject is at its best.

Last year a course in metal work was introduced in the High School. The work was first started with a class of girls. A few of the boys have become interested and the work has been combined with the wood work and some very creditable models have been made. The girls have been most interested in making jewelry articles, such as rings, stick-pins, and bar-pins; several pupils have brought in jewelry to repair. With the wood work, hinges and box corners have been designed, also electric light shades of metal combined with a wood base.

The High School class in wood work has been especially good this year, and quite a few creditable pieces of cabinet work are under way. Several girls have elected the subject, and the classes have been so crowded that they have been obliged to take their periods with the grade boys whenever there was a vacant bench.

The course in drawing is slightly changed from year to year to hold the interest. The work in the lower grades is confined to simple drawing in two dimensions, paper cutting and easy construction. With the upper grades the work has been correlated as much as possible with the regular studies, designing initial letters, illustrations and cover designs for their composition work. The latter part of the year will be devoted to design, color theory and nature study.

The High School work in Mechanical Drawing has consisted of working drawings of machine and building construction, and pen and ink rendering.

The freehand drawing class have been working on nature study and design to be applied to light shades, stencils and tooled leather.

An advanced class has been formed of girls who wish to develop their talent to a greater degree of perfection. The interest in the subject has been excellent, our great handicap being lack of a suitable workroom. It is hoped that a special room may at some time be available where students may carry on their work without interruption, thus enabling the pupil preparing for advanced schools to become more proficient in a line which is demanding greater attention each year, and in which more difficult examinations are being given.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM BROOKS HAZELTON.

Report of Supervisor of Music

Mr. Frank Benedict, Superintendent:

The status of music in public education has completely changed within the last decade. Many educators of today agree that music if properly taught, has as strong claims to an educational rating as any other subject.

The plan of work is as follows:

Grade I. At the end of the first year the class should sing at sight melodies containing any progressions within the first five tones of the major scale.

The class should sing at least twenty-five rote songs with good tone quality and intelligent interpretation.

Grade II. At the end of the second year the class should be able to sing at sight melodies containing the different progressions of the entire scale with the First Time Motion. The class should sing at least twenty new rote songs. Pitch names of the lines and spaces.

Grade III. Sing at sight different melodies containing any progressions within the scale and around "Do." The process of finding "do" from the fifteen sharp and flat signatures.

Individual singing.

Written work.

Grade IV. At the end of the fourth year the class should sing melodies at sight in any key.

The first step in chromatics.

The first, second, and third Time Motions.

Compound Time.

Individual singing.

Report of Attendance Officers

Cochituate, Mass., Dec. 23, 1915.

To the Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Benedict,

Dear Sir:—

During the last year I have had seven (7) cases of absence to investigate and have found no case of truancy.

HENRY G. DUDLEY.

Wayland, Mass., Dec. 17, 1915.

Mr. F. H. Benedict,

Superintendent of Schools.

Dear Sir:—

During the past year I have had six cases of absence to investigate and found no cases of truancy.

Respectfully submitted,

J. C. VINCENT.

Report of School Physician

To the Superintendent of Schools:—

At the request of the school committee, during the recent local outbreak of diphtheria I took cultures from the throats of all teachers, pupils and janitor at the Cochituate Grammar School, the result of which showed three suspected cases, but by second culture only one proved to be positive. This child was excluded from school until two negative cultures were reported.

A few cases of one of the common skin diseases has necessitated excluding nine different pupils from school attendance during the school year.

School Physician.

Report of Agricultural Agent

General Report

The District Junior Extension Bureau of South Middlesex County was organized early in the Spring of 1915 through the Extension Service of the Massachusetts Agricultural College and the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture cooperating. Individuals interested in the movement held a meeting in Framingham to which representatives of surrounding towns were invited for the purpose of forming a bureau to promote work among the school children, especially that of the Boys' and Girls' Clubs of the State, of which Prof. O. A. Morton is the state leader. As a result of this meeting, which representatives of the Massachusetts Agricultural College attended, the Bureau was formed with the following participants; Framingham, Natick, Wayland, County Training School at Chelmsford, Holliston and Sherborn. Mr. N. I. Bowditch of Framingham was chosen Chairman, Mr. E. H. Howard of Framingham, Secretary-Treasurer, who, with a representative from each town, formed an executive committee to direct the work of the agent and to whom the agent was responsible. The representatives from the towns were as follows; Framingham, Mr. N. I. Bowditch; Natick, Rev. A. A. Felch; Wayland (Mr. F. C. Remick, deceased), later Dr. Philip S. Ide; County Training School, Mr. Rufus E. Corlew; Holliston, Supt. of Schools, Carroll E. Drown and Sherborn, Mr. N. B. Douglass. Frederick A. Castle was chosen as agent and assumed his duties March 10, 1915.

The financial arrangements were as follows; $100. per month was supplied by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture to be paid the agent as salary. This was guaranteed through June, with good prospects for continuance. However, this appropriation was discontinued after June 30th but $200. was later available from the Government.

$1200. was to be raised by local subscription of which $25.00 per month was to be paid the agent, the rest of this fund to be applied in office expenses, transportation, etc. It was necessary to raise $1200. locally in order to secure the government aid. The local fund was supplied in the following way. Framingham contributed $200. cash and was credited with $250. for the use of a desk and clerical assistance in the Supt. of Schools office. Natick, Wayland and the County Training School of Chelmsford each gave $200., Holliston $100. and Sherborn $50. Each town paid in half of their appropriation at the beginning and after June 30th all the towns with the exception of the County Training School at Chelmsford paid in the other half which made it possible to continue the work. The County Training School thus did not continue membership in the Bureau.

The method of organizing was briefly to go into the school room and explain the work outlined by the Bureau and invite any boy or girl 10 to 18 years of age to enter any of the State Clubs which include a (1) Home Economics, (2) Poultry, (3) Corn, (4) Potato, (5) Hay, (6) Market Garden, (7) Pig, and (8) Canning Club, and to those who do not wish to undertake so large a project and for the younger boys and girls was offered the Home Garden Club where no limitations were set on area or age. A minimum area of 1-20th acre was allowed for the Market Garden Club, $\frac{1}{8}$ th for the Potato and Hay Clubs and $\frac{1}{2}$ acre for the Corn Club. At least six hens were necessary to enter the Poultry Club and one or more pigs could be entered in the Pig Club. Entries for the Home Economics Club had closed when the agent assumed his duties so no enrolments were secured in this club.

In the State Club the first prize is a trip to Washington, D. C., the second prize a three day trip in the state and third a week's trip to the Massachusetts Agricultural College at Amherst. In the Home Garden Club, pins furnished by the state were given to those doing good work in gardens.

The agent found superintendents, principals and teachers very favorably disposed toward the club work on the whole and they have assisted in every way to make the work a success.

Although some boys and girls did not undertake the projects after enrolling, the majority have kept up their interest and have made a creditable showing. There is every reason to believe that a much larger enrollment will be secured next year as the teachers and pupils now realize what the clubs really are.

All of the towns in the bureau granted either a whole or half day from school in order that the children might attend the South Middlesex Fair at Framingham on Children's Day. Free tickets were supplied by the Fair and each town provided free transportation of exhibits to and from the Fair grounds. The idea of exhibiting furnishes a stimulus to many boys and girls through the year to do better work than they otherwise would and the competition is strong enough to maintain a high standard of excellence.

The figures do not tell the whole story. In many instances the club member has moved or decided to leave for a part of the summer or has taken a job for the summer. They have received the primer of instruction and had the advice of the agent on their particular problem so even though they do not complete the contest they have received instructions which will be of value.

Wayland

The school children of both Wayland and Cochituate were invited to join the clubs with the following results.

	Joined	Finished
Hay	0	0
Corn	1	0
Market Garden	9	4
Potato	9	4
Pig	1	1

Poultry	13	8
Canning	38	10
Home Garden	33	27

Each boy and girl who joined the clubs received a primer of instruction and often advice from the agent so that even though some did not undertake or complete the work they did receive instruction about the project they were interested in. The agent visited the Home Garden Club members in Cochituate and Wayland and although no remarkably good gardens were found, some members did well and will improve next year. One silver and celluloid pins were given to those doing the best work. The children in Wayland are slow to take up the club work but should do very well once it is established. In Cochituate a little more interest has been manifested and better results can be obtained next year.

The agent visited the members of the State Clubs as often as time permitted. The number of visits ranged from two to five depending somewhat on the needs of the member and remoteness from railway connection. Instruction was given in planting, cultivating, controlling insect and fungus attacks; methods of care and feeding to those in the Poultry and Pig Clubs and instruction about making out reports and writing the story at the close of the contests.

The teachers of the Cochituate School are doing considerable departmental work to equalize the burden and give all classes a due proportion of the time for instruction. Classes in rooms four and six go to room five for recitation work and a class in room three goes to room one for reading.

Report of Library Trustees

In pursuance of the policy of increasing the facilities for use of the library in ratio with the growing requirements of the town, the trustees, at the beginning of the present fiscal year added one more day each week for opening the main library and reading room. The building is now open Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays, afternoon and evening. An indication of the appreciation of this is shown in the increased circulation of over one thousand volumes during the year, in this department.

The use of the Cochituate branch and reading room shows a most gratifying, even surprising growth. The seven years following its inauguration showed a steadily increasing circulation, from 2237 volumes in 1907-8, to 10,326 volumes in the year ending Feb. 1, 1915. For this year and the two preceding, its circulation exceeded that of the main library.

During the past year a thorough revision of the catalogue has been made, in which obsolete or worthless titles, which inevitably accumulate in every library, have been eliminated, giving much needed room in the stacks, and leaving the shelves filled with only useful and valuable books.

The item of expense for repairs this year has been very large. The furnaces, after fifteen years' use, had become badly cracked, making it necessary to practically rebuild them, at a cost of over $400. As the trustees had an appropriation of only $100 for repairs available, other expenditures had to be severely curtailed. The purchase of new books in consequence has this year been very small. Owing to the kindness and generosity of friends, however, in gifts of books, as reference to the librarian's report will show, this need of the library has been fully met.

As the age of the library building increases, the item of repair expenses must naturally be larger, and the trustees would most earnestly recommend an increased appropriation for this purpose.

The annual report of the librarian to the trustees is herewith submitted, with list of accessions for the year.

Water Commissioners' Report

At a meeting of the Water Commissioners, February 18th, the Board was organized with James C. McKay, Chairman, and Clarence S. Williams, Clerk.

James H. Whitehead was re-appointed Superintendent of Works.

Considering the fact that the Water Department was out of debt, the Board decided to take steps to improve conditions at the reservoir and voted to consult Engineer J. J. Van Valkenburg of Framingham, with that purpose in view.

During the month of July heavy rains fell and overflowed the swamps and replaced the clear water in the reservoir with swamp water, which was very objectionable at the faucets.

The engineer made recommendations and submitted plans to pipe off the water coming from the swamps, besides cleaning up work on the reservoir. These plans and recommendations were referred to the State Board of Health for their advice.

The following letters were received regarding further work on the water supply:

Letter No. One

Framingham, Mass., Oct. 5, 1915.

To the Water Commissioners,
Wayland, Mass.

Dear Sirs:—

At your request, I have recently made an investigation of the conditions existing at the reservoirs of the Town's water works system, particularly with reference to what immediate steps should be taken to improve the quality of the water.

Marked improvement has been made about the reservoirs during the last ten years in the appearance of the shore lines. Trees and brush have been cut well back from the water and low places along the easterly side of the lower reservoir have been filled.

The quality of the water, however, has not become much better. It is still the most highly colored of any public water supply in the State and is at certain seasons decidedly objectionable to taste.

A few facts regarding the source of your water supply will explain why the quality of your water is comparatively so poor. The accompanying plan will assist in describing the situation.

There are two reservoirs. The lower reservoir, No. 1, has an area of 7.6 acres. The upper reservoir, No. 2, has an area of 4.6 acres and is generally about one foot higher than the other.

The two reservoirs are separated by a low dyke which at certain seasons of the year is overflowed.

The water in the upper end of No. 1 reservoir and the whole of No. 2 is very shallow and during dry season a considerable area of their bottoms is unwatered.

Into the upper end of No. 2 reservoir flows a stream of considerable size during wet seasons. The source of this stream is in a wooded swamp an area of about 32 acres. Several large sized springs are located along the upper edge of the swamp where indicated on the plan. The whole surface of this area and to a considerable depth is covered with water soaked leaves, fallen trees and other vegetation—the accumulation of ages.

The lower reservoir also has several springs directly connected with it and the drainage of a considerable area of swamp land. This reservoir in itself has naturally much better water than what collects in No. 2 reservoir. Owing, however, to the fact that it receives so much swamp-drained water from the overflow of No. 2 reservoir its quality is considerably impaired, it becomes highly colored and is at times unpalatable. I quote from a report made some years ago by the State Board of Health regarding your Water Supply.

"The results of analyses show that the water of the reservoir is generally highly colored and contains frequently an excessive quantity of organic matter and that it is often objectionable for drinking and other domestic purposes on account of a disagreeable taste and odor. The objectionable quality of the water of the reservoir is evidently due principally to the character of the reservoir, which is very shallow and contains much organic matter in its bottom."

From the report of the Construction Committee under date of 1879, it is learned that one-half of the reservoir (The present reservoirs were originally one), is less than 3 feet deep and was covered with a rank vegetable growth, and that nothing was done to the land flowed but to cut the brush—a portion of that was not removed owing to the reservoir being filled earlier than was anticipated.

Undoubtedly it has been frequently recommended that the reservoirs be cleaned. Were this done it would surely result in some good, but the benefits derived would not in my judgment be sufficiently great to warrant the expenditure of so large an amount of money as would be required to accomplish the work of a thorough cleaning.

I believe the very best thing that can be done for a comparatively small sum of money is first to raise the dyke between the two reservoirs and extend it as shown on the plan so that the water in the upper reservoir shall have no direct connection with the lower one.

A 20 inch vitrified pipe drain should then be laid extending from below the wasteway of the lower reservoir to a manhole at the upper reservoir where indicated on the plan in red ink. Assuming the elevation of No. 1 reservoir to be 100 and No. 2 reservoir to be 101 then the drain at its upper end will be at 97.5 or $2\frac{1}{2}$ feet below No. 1 and $3\frac{1}{2}$ feet below No. 2 reservoir. In the manhole there will be a gate and an overflow which will control the elevation of the water in reservoir No. 2.

By means of this drain during wet seasons large quantities of swamp drained water can be prevented from entering No. 1 reservoir and conducted below the dam.

The estimated cost of doing this work is as follows :—

700 lineal feet of 20 inch pipe laid complete
@ $1.70	$1,190.00
Manhole complete, including gate and locked cover	130.00
Dyke construction, 150 cu. yds. filling @ $1.00	150.00
Stonework	75.00
Deepening channel	75.00
	$1,620.00
Add 15 per cent for engineering and contingencies	243.00
Total	$1,863.00

The next thing that should be done is to open up the swamp drainage areas by means of a system of ditches which will allow the spring water to flow directly to your reservoir without first seeping through acres of decaying vegetable matter.

I can give no estimate of the cost of doing this drainage work. During the winter a survey should be made of the swamps and the ditches located to the best advantage. It is too late in the season and too wet to start ditching. Having decided upon a plan of drainage the construction could be carried on at such times as the seasons would permit.

The 20 inch drain and the dyke could and should be built this year.

Respectfully submitted,

J. J. VAN VALKENBURGH.

Letter No. Two

October 22, 1915.

To the Wayland Water Board,
Cochituate, Massachusetts.

Mr. Clarence S. Williams, Clerk.

Gentlemen:—

The State Department of Health has considered your application of October 4, 1915, as to a certain proposed plan of improving the water supply of Wayland, has considered the plan presented by your engineer, and has examined the results of analyses of the water of your present sources of supply.

The results of these analyses show that the water of the lower basin on Snake Brook, from which your supply is drawn, is one of the most highly colored waters used for water supply purposes in the State. The water is also at times affected by growths of organisms which impart to the water a disagreeable taste and odor. These conditions, while objectionable, are not known to be injurious to health, and since the water of your reservoir does not appear to be exposed to serious danger of pollution at the present time, the water is undoubtedly safe for drinking.

The water of the upper basin, so called, located just above the lower basin, is more highly colored and contains a larger quantity of organic matter than the water in the lower basin, and there is furthermore a swamp above the upper basin having an area of about 32.4 acres, through which the water flows very slowly, and it undoubtedly derives a large part of its color and organic matter through contact with the vegetable matter in this swamp.

According to the reports relating to the water works, a large part of the original area flowed by the reservoir was covered with a thick vegetable growth when the reservoir was originally constructed, but since that time considerable money has been expended in improving the lower basin and removing mud and other organic matter from the shallow portions. The upper basin, however, is still quite shallow and has a mud bottom.

The plan now submitted provides for the construction of a small dike across the lower end of an arm of the lower basin through which the water of the upper basin overflows and for laying a pipe from the wasteway of the lower basin up to a manhole to be constructed on the west bank of the upper basin just above the proposed dike. This pipe is designed to remove flood waters, which would naturally pass through the lower basin around that basin to an outlet into the wasteway below the dam. The proposed pipe line and appurtenances appear to be adequate for the purpose for which they are designed, the cost of the works would be comparatively small, and it is probable that the construction of these proposed works would result in some improvement in the quality of the water supplied to the town, but the water would undoubtedly continue to be highly colored and would contain at times growths of organisms which would impart to it a noticeable taste and odor. The improvement would be more effective if, in addition to the proposed works, the swamp above the upper basin were properly drained so that water from the watershed about it would be conveyed quickly to the reservoir and water were prevented from standing upon the swamp for any considerable time, but even with this improvement added, the water supplied to the town would still have the characteristics which make it objectionable at the present time, though in a less marked degree.

The water could be materially improved by proper filtration, but filtration is impracticable without pumping since the head under which the water is supplied is naturally very small.

In view of the unsatisfactory quality of the water and the low pressure under which it is supplied, and especially in view of the probable cost of an effective improvement of this water, it seems advisable for the town to investigate the practicability of securing a supply of ground water either from Natick, from which water is obtained occasionally under present conditions, or from independent works, which might be located in the neighborhood of Lake Cochituate at no great distance from the village. The initial cost of a new supply would not be great and, while there would be the added cost of pumping, it would be practicable to extend the works to supply other very thickly settled portions of the town, and the cost of a new supply under the circumstances would not be likely to be a serious added burden above the cost of the improvements proposed in the present source.

Considering the circumstances, it is the opinion of this Department that it is inadvisable to attempt improvement of the present supply unless the improvement is going to be great enough to insure a water of satisfactory quality, and the Department recommends that you investigate the practicability and cost of obtaining a water supply from the town of Natick or from independent sources in the neighborhood of the village, designing the works with a view to supplying other portions of the town, to which it is advisable that the public service be extended.

By direction of the Commissioner of Health,

X. H. GOODNOUGH,

Chief Engineer.

Report of Cemetery Commissioners

The money appropriated by the town for the care of its cemeteries for the year has been expended with care, and is reflected in the slowly but steadily improved general appearance of all three cemeteries.

Since our last annual report the town has received as gifts two funds of one hundred dollars each, making a total of twenty-four funds, amounting to thirty-one hundred dollars, incomes from which are for perpetual care of individual lots.

Appended is statement showing balances held subject to order of the commissioners on December 31st, 1915.
